Naturalwalks – Explore the nature's and the city's hidden secrets

Girona – the city's hidden secrets walk

It is amazing how many things you pass without noticing! In June, we were lucky to try Naturalwalk's "Girona – the city and its hidden secrets" walk. In short, you meet up as with any other "standard" guided tour in Girona, and walk to the Cathedral. But where every body else look up, we look down and the rocks of the cathedral with integrated fossils explores the amazing story of why Girona looks like it looks, who built it and much more.

Fossils in the Girona Cathedral building stones – Outside the wall and suddenly in the middle of nature!

From this point, we were caught by fascination, and Evarist took us through the streets of Girona, stopping by every seemingly random plant, explaining, eating... Much sooner than expected, as we had just been in the heart of the big city of Girona, we found ourselves in a gravel road in the middle of nature and walked to a beautiful viewing point in a slow pace, as the plants, traces of animals, burned trees from forest fire, each told fascinating stories.

The children loved it, because they were assigned small jobs to find specific plants and in general were included in the activity rather than just being passive. It is important for Naturalwalks that the children enjoy the trip very much also.

About 2,5 hours later, we found ourselves back in central Girona, eating lunch on the Placa de la Independència, enjoying the food, the sun and this very unexpected, highly recommendable experience.

L'Escala for a day with watersports..... or relaxation!

If the entire family or just some of you are interested in Watersports or perhaps learn, a day in L'Escala would be perfect.

For those who prefer beach, shopping and cafés:

The town itself is cosy with its antique town centre with cafés and shops, and if you are lucky, you can get fresh fish directly from the fishing boats.

Action on the Mediteranean Sea

Our local activity partner offers a variety of watersports activities ranging from all kinds of boats with sails (from windsurfers to bigger boats) and also classic fun like banana-rides and waterskiing, wakeboards and for this year, they will probably also have small motorboats, where you can visit limited parts of the coastal area near L'Escala.

If you are experiences, they will probably have the equipment you needed.

If you are not experienced, they offer teaching (also for children, but as we understood it, you will need to follow classes for a whole week)

Salvador Dalí

- The Dalí triangle

Salvador Dalí has made a significant impact in the area. The most famous sight is the museum in Figueres. It might be an idea to reserve tickets (by the website below) in advance, as the line up in July and August tends to be long.

We can also recommend two other visits. The Dalí residence in Cadaques, but remember to reserve tickets. The village itself is also very nice, and you can take a swim there or in nearby El Port de la Selva.

The third Dalí museum is his castle near Girona in Púbol. One of the attractions is the stuffed giraffe. For more information and tickets: https://www.salvador-dali.org/serveis/en_entrades.php/?cancel

The Catalan “Tuscany”

- Explore the medieval village and their great restaurants

The white villages

- Explore the villages where you still find the authentic Costa Brava atmosphere

Suggestion: If you want to explore these areas walking or by bicycle, contact our guide Quim for an offer. He is an expert in the area and it is really interesting to explore it with guide.

Around the town of La Bisbal d'Empordá, you find a lot of beautiful Catalan villages, fortified and situated on small hills, to protect them against attacks from the Sea. Now, they are all beautifully reformed and you find many nice restaurants. Take a ride around the area.

Ullastret – Peratellada – Palau-Sator – Sant Feliu de Boada – Casavells – Monells – Corcá - Pals – Torella d'Montgrí - Begur

Right at the Costa Brava coast, a few villages have survived the arrival of mass-tourism and have maintained the cosy Costa Brava fisherman's village atmosphere. They are connected by a coastal walk, which is very nice. The shortest is from Llafranc to Calella de Palafrugell and back again, about 2 km. (4 km. return)

EXCURSION - BARCELONA

As there exist a lot of information about Barcelona, we will not make a detailed description of the city. Below a few useful hints when planning your trip to Barcelona. Distance 1½ - 2 hours depending on which house you stay in.

How to get there:	Car:	We will recommend driving to Barcelona. It is fairly easy to drive in. There are many parking houses, but of course quite expensive in central city. Information about alternative cheaper parking options: http://www.bsmsa.cat/mobilitat/index.php/bsm-car-parks/advantages-and-discounts/special-rates
	Train:	From Tarragona, there is the possibility of parking in Tarragona Camp and take the high speed train to Barcelona.
Getting around in Barcelona	Tourist bus: 	For a day trip, especially with children, it might be a good idea to use the jump-on-jump-off tourist bus, which will take you to all major sights. It is a bit expensive and tend to be very busy in the Summer, but on the warm humid summer days, you will get easily also to Parc Güell, The Miró Museum, Camp Nou and many other places without too much walking.
	Metro	The metro is excellent and air conditioned. You can buy some inexpensive day tickets or 10-trip cards
Visits		Barcelona is now one of the most popular destinations in the world. It has put a pressure on the sights, such as Parc Güell, La Sagrada Família and La Pedrera. It is recommendable to book your visits in advance, as it should save you some of the line up: Parc Güell: http://www.parkguell.cat/en/buy-tickets/ La Pedrera: https://www.lapedrera.com/en/home La Sagrada Família: http://www.sagradafamilia.org/en/tickets/
F.C. Barcelona		From late August to around May, you might be lucky that there is match in Camp Nou. But if not, the museum is also very nice. If you decide to buy tickets , you can print them directly on http://www.fcbarcelona.com/info-tickets/next-matches-football - we personally prefer to be near the pitch, so you can get a good look at the stars ☺ Behind the goals is not bad. The tour and visit to the museum (always open) can be booked here: http://www.fcbarcelona.com/camp-nou
Hints:		Remember swimsuit, the Barcelona beach is excellent. "Menu del medio dia" – Often you can get some nice inexpensive lunch menus, look for signs

EXCURSION - THE PYRENEES (Long drive)

These spectacular mountains offer all you can think off with regards to scenery and outdoor activities. The drive is from 2-3 hours depending on where you want to go.

Kayaks

If you want a great outdoor experience, we collaborate with Jordi and his team from Lapica Experience. Based in Ponts, they offer a great variety of outdoor activities. They are suitable for children as well.

Rafting for children:

Lapica trips offer rafting trips designed so children can also participate. Request the activity document: info@sydensferiehuse.dk

Barranq – Canyoning:

This is a fantastic experience. You will walk to cross a small mountain, and you will return walking in swimsuits in the small river, through a cave and down a small waterfall. At the end, the jumping rock is a hit for the children and other childish persons.

It is suitable for children from about 10-12 years. It is a physical activity, where the first little part (30-40 minutes) is a bit hard. Our group was not very fit and managed without problems. We had an excellent experience. Highly recommendable.

Kayaking:

Have some nice hours kayaking up and down the Segre river. The activity is very suitable for children.

Each activity has an elaborating document, which you can request: info@sydensferiehuse.dk – remember to indicate which activities

DELTA DEL EBRO – THE MOST SOUTHERN PART OF CATALONIA

Swimming with Tuna

Booking: info@sydensferiehuse.dk

Swim with the Tunas!

Beat your friends' Dolphin trips, with this very unusual experience. In the bay just before the Ebro-delta, they breath semi-natural tuna, in some huge cylinders with nets, preventing the Tunas leaving.

Tuna Tours has made an agreement, so in one of the cylinders, they are allowed to bring their guests, so they can snorkel and experience the Tunas first-hand.

It is an unusual and fun experience and you will of course taste some tuna on the way back. Remember to bring swimsuit.

DELTA DEL EBRO – Rice, Birdlife and Beach

The Ebro Delta and Riumar

The Ebro delta is a very special place, flat unlike most other places in Catalonia and wet, as an advanced system of channels with small locks makes it possible to direct the water.

Rice:

The wet-fields makes it possible to cultivate rice, and the area has a big rice production. If you want to explore this a bit more, our local contact in the tourist office recommends following place (no personal experience)

Birds:

There is a rich bird life in the delta, as the area provide perfect conditions for many species. The most famous bird is of course the Flamenco, but be aware that it is a seasonal bird, so you cannot expect to see them. Two recommended websites:
